Phase 1:

$1,200,000

(2015 budget)

A 3rd floor digital eBAR allows staff to deliver hands-on technological assistance with a variety of digital devices as well as one-on-one instruction on how to use DPPL materials on those devices.

E-BAR TABLES

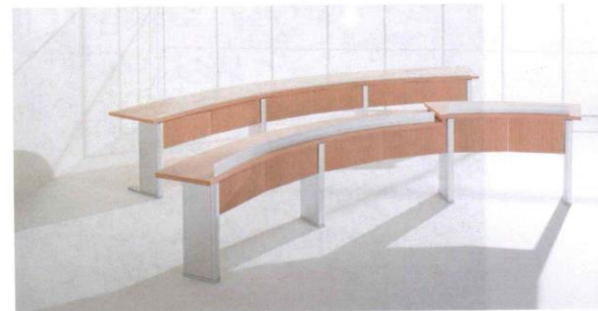

The curve of this piece of furniture is attractive at both high and low levels.

Example of a low, curved table with monitor(s) attached, in use.

I like the gentle curve and clean lines of this but it needs to be 2-sided.

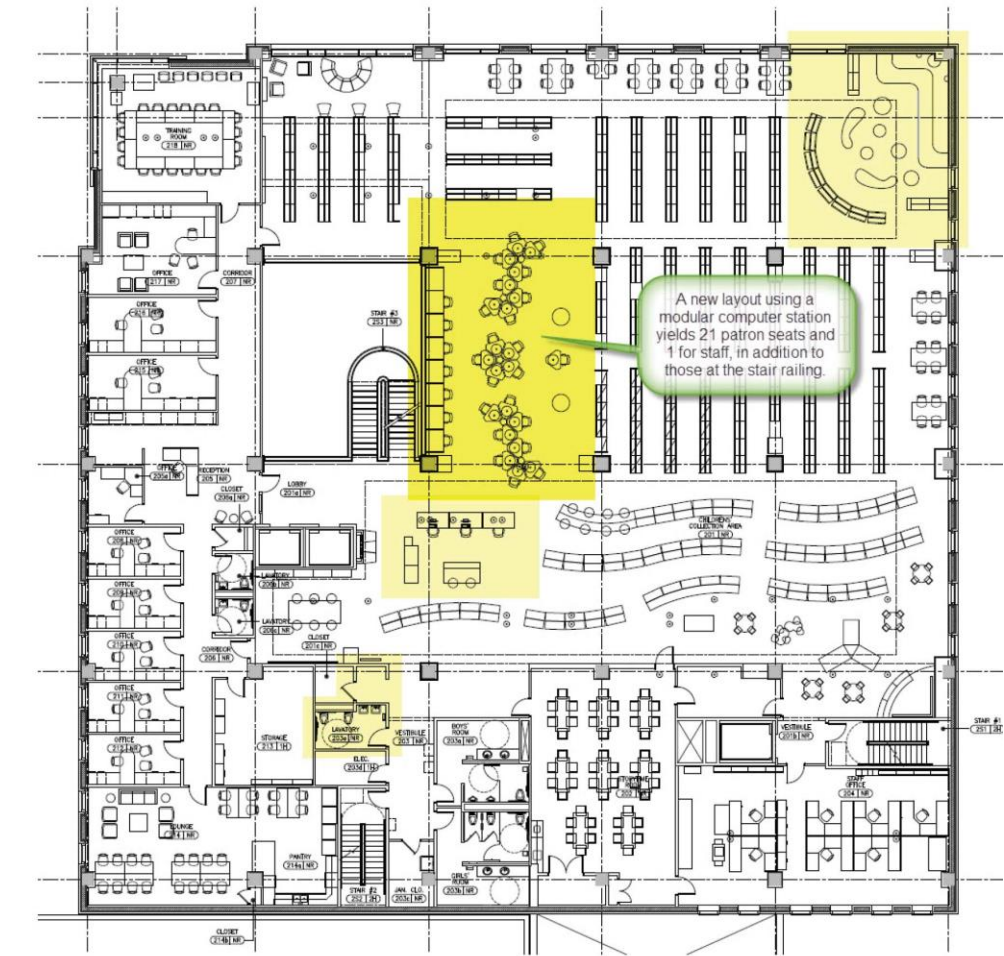

We want a monitor on the end of each table, but not on a fixed end cap—a flexible arm would be better.

Phase 1:
$1,200,000
(2015 budget)

2nd floor Youth Computer Learning Center that accommodates school visits, database training and computer-assisted programming

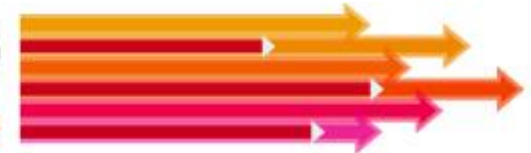

Poetry Corner
Additional programming space.

Phase 1:
$1,200,000
(2015 budget)

An expanded 1st floor Quick Picks Service Center increases patron access to popular materials in an easy to browse ‘grab-and-go’ setting.

Improved 1st floor public amenities, including a vending/lounge area.

Phase 2:
$954,071
(2016 budget)

3rd floor Teen Center
with expanded work,
social and media areas,
as well as collaborative
